Journey to the Superhumans Rehabilitation Center

SuperKids and SuperHumans: teenagers visited the modern Rehabilitation and Prosthetics Center for the third time, witnessing the meticulous process of prosthetic creation and the compassionate care provided to individuals with injuries. During the visit, participants were guided through a tour and briefed on the intricate stages of rehabilitation. Fostering tolerance among adolescents and promoting seamless interaction with SuperHumans is a crucial contemporary endeavor.

Workshops on Crafting Bracelets and Guardian Angels

The "SviTy" participants took part in creative workshops, handcrafting gifts for military personnel undergoing rehabilitation at the Superhumans Center – bracelets and guardian angels. Handmade gifts are the least we can do for our Defenders for their courage and valor.

Career Orientation Training "Time to Make a Choice"

Choosing a profession is a step towards a happy and successful future. To make the right choice, it is essential to consider one's desires and strengths, fearlessly unleash potential, and confidently move forward. This was the essence of our training session "Time to Make a Choice". Together, we explored various intriguing aspects – from upcoming professions in the next 10-20 years to valued skills and more.

Online Empowerment by MBA Kids International

Teenagers underwent online empowerment sessions led by top instructors from MBA Kids International in an entrepreneurial intensive format comprising 10 sessions. Participants delved into fundamental business concepts, learned to identify market niches, explored original idea generation, applied teamwork skills, showcased leadership abilities, crafted product business models, determined communication channels with the Target Audience, and selected presentation methods to pitch their business ideas at the course finale. Each participant's progress was a source of pride!

Financial Literacy Training, Part 1

A successful future depends on decisions made today. A two-day financial literacy training was conducted for teenagers, enlightening them on how sound financial decisions today pave the way for a prosperous tomorrow. The first day immersed participants in the realm of finance, covering basic concepts and principles for effective money management. Budgeting was demystified as a vital yet straightforward process, SMART goals were dissected, and practical tasks were accomplished.

Financial Literacy Training, Part 2

Continuing on Sunday, we delved deeper into financial topics, initiating engaging practical case studies. The exploration of investments and diverse money-growing opportunities unfolded. Investing is not exclusive to adults, and financial freedom is attainable for all. In total, 30 teenagers participated in the training sessions. Forge a bright and successful future – you've got this!

Mandala Creation

Since ancient times, people have crafted mandalas – the flower of life; some draw, some assemble mosaics, while our participants weaved them. Initially appearing complex, breaking down the process into steps made it surprisingly easy. Choosing colors was the initial step, as each color symbolized something: blue for the sky, orange for the earth's core, and so forth. Each individual imbued their chosen color with specific meaning, initiating a magical journey as mandalas also serve as talismans. Ornamental patterns emerged step by step, each participant creating a unique masterpiece. Participants not only received talismans but also uplifted spirits!

Easter Decor Crafting Workshop

At the workshop, handmade decor was meticulously crafted, intertwining branches to form wreaths further adorned with embellishments. Weaving with willow and securing with herbs, our ancestors' traditional practices were revived, fostering a sense of generational connection and Ukrainian heritage. Another decor piece included an Easter chick in a nest and vibrant painted eggs. The chick turned out remarkably lifelike! Voilà! All set! Post-event, children eagerly adorned their homes with their masterpieces.

Pysanka Painting Workshop

Creating "krapanky" on real eggs with teenagers was a special event! Pysanka artistry is an ancient Ukrainian tradition, traditionally commencing several weeks before Easter. Each design and color in pysanky is rich in symbolism, embodying true magic. The simplest instructional techniques for mastering pysanka art – "drypachky" and "krapanky" – were initiated with teenagers, and they excelled splendidly!

Easter Wreath Crafting Workshop

"SviTy" participants crafted wreaths, reviving Ukrainian traditions through artistry. The process evolved into a festive occasion, sparking discussions on how this creative endeavor aids in better understanding and feeling connected to one's culture and history. The workshop's culmination was particularly heartwarming, as each participant could present their wreath and narrate its creation story. It served as a splendid testament to traditions living on through new generations striving to preserve and enrich Ukraine's cultural heritage.

Straw Weaving Workshop

Straw weaving is one of the oldest folk crafts deeply rooted in Ukrainian culture. Since ancient times, people have utilized cereal straw to craft various household items. All participants tried their hand at weaving angels from straw, offering them a wonderful opportunity to materialize their ideas. The results were incredible, as these angels will bring joy and protection to our wards' families.

Training Game "Unbreakable Figures of Zhytomyr"

During the training game, teenagers discovered fascinating insights about Ukraine, acquainting themselves with remarkable facts about prominent figures involved in shaping Ukrainian history. They also visited Baron de Shoduar Park, where, with smartphones, they explored a 3D model of the baron's residence, learned intriguing stories about the S. Richter Regional Philharmonic, a hub of true artistry, and much more. Overall, conducting enlightening training sessions outdoors proved to be a highly engaging practice.
